

What Skills You Have and Most Enjoy Using

The easiest way to get into the subject of your skills is to just dive in. Imagine, if you will, that this diagram below is the aerial view of a room in which a Party is taking place (the view is taken from the next floor up). At this Party, for some unknown reason, people with similar interests or skills have gathered together with one another, in the same corner of the room. As there are basically six such groups, it is fortunate the room has six corners:

It is a party that is to go on, all through the night. You are told that you must choose to be with one of the groups in one of the corners of the room.

a) Which corner of the room would you instinctively be drawn to, as "your kind of people"—whom you would most enjoy being with, for the longest time? Leave aside any question of shyness; maybe they will do all the talking, and you can just listen, with rapt attention. Write the number for that corner here:

b) Suppose for some reason that group left the party, without you. (They have gone to another party, crosstown. How inconsiderate!) Of the groups which still remain at this Party, which group would you now be most drawn to, as "your kind of people"? Write the number for their corner here:

c) For some reason, this group also leaves for another party crosstown. (Hey, get the address of that party.) Of the groups which now remain, which one would you enjoy being with the most, and for the longest time? Write the number of that corner here:
