STUDY AND WORK IN CANADA OR AUSTRALIA WITH A SILICON VALLEY EDUCATION!

Diane Arguijo,
Director of International Education

In response to the overwhelming interest of our students to transfer to universities in countries where they can have opportunities for longer post study work visas and pathways to permanent residency, we have expanded our transfer agreements to universities in Canada and Australia. Presently, we are in the final stages of signing Transfer Admission Guarantees (TAGs) with Royal Roads University in Victoria, Canada, and Australian Catholic University (Brisbane, Melbourne and Sydney). Students who complete an associate's degree for transfer (in selected majors) at one of our colleges, will now have the opportunity to transfer to Royal Roads University or Australian Catholic University to complete their bachelor's degree in two more years. Updated information on these universities will be posted to our international student website in late November.

WE'VE REACHED 119 COLLEGE UNIVERSITY PARTNERSHIPS!

We are excited to report that since the publication of the Spring newsletter, we have added the following Transfer Admission Guarantee (TAG) universities. Each university listed below offers a wide array of quality academic programs, and in some cases, lower tuition costs and/or transfer scholarships.

- McNeese State University, Lake Charles, Louisiana
- Pepperdine University, Malibu, California
- St. Edward's University, Austin, Texas
- University of Minnesota, Duluth, Minnesota

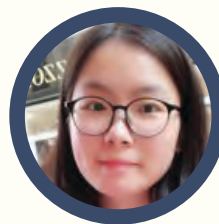

In order to provide our students with detailed information on each of our partners, we are in the process of creating a website to promote in detail our university partners. We hope to get the webpage up and running by January 2019.

DEDICATED INTERNATIONAL COUNSELORS

To further enhance our students' transfer performance, each of our three colleges now have dedicated international student counselors:

US AMBASSADOR'S VISIT

US Ambassador to China, Terry Branstad, visited our colleges on June 19, 2018, to brief the college community and the Silicon Valley tech companies on the US trade policies with China. He reassured the audience that the US continues to believe in international education. Pictured here are (from the left) Ambassador Terry Branstad, Chancellor Ron Galatolo, and CSM President Mike Claire.

SMCSV HOMESTAY REFERRAL PROGRAM

The Homestay Referral Program has successfully matched 86 international students with local host families for Fall 2018. Our newly implemented Pre-Departure Online Orientation has been effective in assisting students with their transition to life in the US. Students were more informed of the house rules and expectations even before arriving to the In-Person Orientation, which saw a significant increase in the number of attendees this year.

The Homestay Program staff members have also created a more detailed contract between international students and host families to eliminate any confusion about money-related issues, and it's also available with simplified Chinese translations. With these two newly implemented procedures in place and 191 participating host families, the program hopes to continue delivering outstanding services to the students.

HIGH SCHOOL COUNSELOR RESIDENCY UPDATES

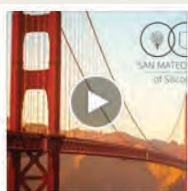

Our 10-day High School Counselor Residency Program was a huge success. The Residency Program provided the high school counselors and EducationUSA advisors with valuable information on transfer process, admissions, student support services, homestay, and many more. Counselors had the opportunity to meet the international program staff at each college, get a detailed presentation on a different topic each day, and speak with our current international students about their experiences. Stanford University and UC Berkeley also provided customized tours and meetings for the counselors.

According to Demirjian Nanor from Spain, "I feel that this Residency was very thoughtfully planned and had a dynamic itinerary."

Diego Lopez-Calleja, from Costa Rica, explained that "I enjoyed how welcoming each staff member was with our group. They were extremely open to questions and went above and beyond to get us the information we needed. I enjoyed each one of the campus visits and really did get the 'feel' for them. It will help me tremendously when describing them to my students."

Pictured above is the group from our farewell dinner. We plan to send out the invitation for the 2019 Summer Residency earlier this time around so please keep an eye out for our next Newsletter.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

Our Global Beca International Student Scholarship continues to provide financial assistance to students who wish to study in America. This year alone, we have awarded merit-based scholarships, ranging from $250 to the full tuition cost, to 56 deserving international students from 24 different countries.

One notable student is Anna Te from Cambodia, who received a full tuition waiver for her excellent grades in four Advanced Placement (AP) classes while participating in extracurricular activities and serving as President of Student Council. Her goal is to attend Harvard Law School and we hope with this scholarship we can help her achieve her dreams.
