

Dr. Lisa Petrides

Elected to the College Board in November 2020, Lisa Petrides, Ph.D. is founder and CEO of the Institute for the Study of Knowledge Management in Education (ISKME), a San Mateo County-based education nonprofit dedicated to democratizing access to education and whose work inspires and supports educators to adopt Open Education through the practice of collaboration, organizational change, and continuous improvement. Trustee Petrides is a scholar and Open Educational Resources (OER) expert who has helped lead the design of tools and strategies to create and support the field of OER. Her work also includes the development of ISKME's award winning OER Commons, a digital public library and collaboration platform that facilitates the discovery and improvement of high-quality digital resources that are free, openly licensed, and adaptable for a diverse range of learners.

Trustee Petrides is a former faculty member in the Department of Organizational Leadership at Columbia University, Teachers College, and has advised and led development efforts that have enabled schools, colleges, universities, ministries of education, and the organizations that support them to expand their capacity to use data and information, and create inclusive knowledge-driven environments focused on teaching and learning. She received an MBA from Sonoma State University, and a Ph.D. in Education Policy from Stanford University. She is a Senior Fellow of the American Leadership Forum of Silicon Valley, and a Board member of the Palo Alto nonprofit Kafenia Peace Collective.

A resident of Half Moon Bay, she is an avid cyclist, triathlete with Team and Training, and can be found painting in her garage or playing guitar and baglama in her band.

Term expires 2024.
